

Say “THANKS!” to the Boss

- Does your boss show a constructive interest in your school board work?
- Are you allowed to keep a flexible schedule to balance work with school board duties?
- Does your employer deserve special recognition for encouraging you in your school board work?

CABE Can Help!

Now you can say “thanks” to the boss who supports you as a school board member. Upon the recommendation of any Connecticut school board member who is regularly employed (salaried or hourly), CABE Executive Director, Robert Rader, will send a letter of commendation to the board member’s employer, along with a certificate suitable for framing.

The purpose of the CABE Employer Commendation Program is to recognize those employers which make a special point of encouraging and supporting employees who serve on school boards. The award will also:

- acknowledge that there is a school board member on staff;
- acknowledge that the employer views school board service as an essential and demanding community activity;
- recognize that serving on a school board takes time and requires understanding of the employer;
- reinforce the employer’s commitment to support school board members;
- encourage other employers to share that commitment and adopt a similar posture; and
- encourage all employers and employees to view school board service as a valuable avocation.

If you are employed by a business or institution that supports your school board work, and would like CABE to send your boss a letter and certificate of commendation, complete the request form to the right and mail it to the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education.

There is no cost for this acknowledgement!
